Nearly 100 Sites to Provide Free Meals to Youth this summer

Nashville, TN—The Metropolitan Action Commission (MAC) will begin preparing and distributing meals to nearly 100 summer camps, churches and other locations on Monday, June 1.

Approved local organizations such as churches, community centers, summer school programs and summer camps completed the required trainings and inspections last week in preparation of being a food site for youth. “The SFSP allows programs such as youth camps to provide free meals to young people as well as the surrounding community, which offsets the overall operating cost of their program,” said Marvin Cox, Community Programs Director.

These sites will be responsible for serving breakfast and lunch to any child, up to age 18 years, beginning June 1 through July 31.

The program targets facilities located in or near low income areas where at least 51% of the population qualifies for free or reduced meals during the regular school season.

The goal of the program is to provide nutritionally balanced meals for children during the summer months that otherwise would go without a healthy meal during the day.

Last year Metro Action supplied meals to 92 sites, however the agency anticipates that Nashville will have at least 100 sites before the end of the summer due to the economy. “We know that many families are having a difficult time covering the cost of basic necessities. This program allows parents to have one less thing to be concerned about,” said Cox.

Last year the Summer Food Service Program supplied 170,221 lunches and 41,332 breakfast meals.

Organizations can still apply to be a free meal site for children. Applications are available at our main Metro Action office, located at 1624 5th Avenue, North or by visiting our website at www.nashville.gov/mac. Applicants may also call 615-862-8860, Extension 131. Applications are currently being accepted.

Metro Action receives federal funding for the SFSP from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service through a grant with the Tennessee Department of Human Services.
